

Contemporary Maritime Piracy as an Issue of Academic Inquiry. A Bibliography

Compiled by Christian Bueger<sup>1</sup> for Piracy-Studies.org

Version: 16. October 2012

The aim of this bibliography is to gather a complete collection of academic works on contemporary (post WWII) maritime piracy, with a focus on academic books, journals and working paper.<sup>2</sup> In addition the bibliography includes some titles on the history of piracy, and some general interest literature on piracy. The present version includes 487 titles.

There are two ways how you can contribute to advance this bibliography.

You might want to join our Research Group on Mendeley. The bibliography uses the Mendeley Research network. Mendeley is a full fledged bibliographic software with integrated web 2.0 functionality. In joining the Piracy Studies Research Group on Mendeley, you can download the references to the reference software of your preference. You will also be able to add items and you will receive a frequent update of items added.

Alternatively visit the website <http://piracy-studies.org>, go to the site 'Scientific Literature' and use the comment function which you find at the end of the page.
